Subscriptions Made on Pledge Cards Transferred to The Permanent Record Sheets.

MANY WORKERS STILL ACTIVE

Districts Which Have Not Reached Quotas Striving to Close Up Their Part of Drive.

The Victory loan headquarters are busy checking up the figures which have been reported from the various districts in the county so that a definite report can be made to the treasury department within a short time. Announcement that a report for the county will be filed at office caused the lagging districts to hurry up their work so they might be included in the first one hundred per cent. over the top report filed with the government. Because of the clerical work that is in progress the additional sales that have come to the headquarters since early morning have not been tabulated. They have been entered in their proper columns and the additions were to be made later.

The original pledges are made on cards and the names, addresses and amounts subscribed are transferred to permanent record sheets. Some of the cards were filed through the banks or with workers other than those connected directly with the loan organization and these must be verified to ascertain if any errors or duplications have been made. After the lists are copied by the clerks the names and subscriptions will be checked against the cards. The lists are compiled according to districts.

Loan workers believe that the sales in Jackson township will go well over the $200,000 mark. Brownstown township workers are also confident they will be able to show a substantial oversubscription. Dudleytown district which was the only section in Washington county that had not gone over the top, reported additional subscriptions, bringing that total up to $2,000. The quota was $4,500.

Redding township workers are busily engaged, and encouraging reports are coming from Grassy Fork township where all but one or two districts have reported oversubscriptions. Driftwood's total is growing and Carr township workers insist they will reach their goal. Salt Creek and Hamilton townships are making a good showing and successful campaigns are assured. Vernon, one of the first townships to report its quota complete, is working on an oversubscription. One township has finished its job.

The workers in the various townships are insistent that each district shall make its complete quota in this drive so that the record for the county will be perfect.

ESTIMATED SALES OF $20,000,000 IN TWO DAYS

Third Day of Victory Loan Campaign Find Canvassing Machinery in Full Operation.

By United Press. Washington, April 23—Sales of "Victory notes" for the first two days of the campaign were estimated at $200,000,000 by treasury officials today. Official incomplete reports including sales to noon yesterday totaled $116,077,900 in five federal reserve districts. Later reports augmented this figure.

The third day of the campaign saw the canvassing machinery in full operation, according to war loan officials here. Rivalry which existed in other campaigns appeared to be returning and the selling began to take on the appearance of a real drive, reports said.

STOCKHOLDERS TO PAY FOR PHONES

Ruling Made by Commission in Deciding Case of The Reddington Mutual Telephone Company.

PROPERTY VALUED AT $1,460

Order is Made to Set Aside 5 Per cent. of Value for Depreciation Fund—Rates Boosted to $7.50.

An increase in telephone rates from $5 to $7.50 a year with elimination of free service to stockholders was ordered by the Indiana public service commission in ruling on a petition filed by the Reddington Township Mutual Telephone Company.

The case was recently heard by the commission in Indianapolis and accountants made an inspection on the property and financial records. James C. Barr is president and J. A. Fox secretary of the company.

The principal points of the ruling are set out as follows:

Tentative Estimate of Valuation—A tentative estimate of $1,460, was placed on the property of a telephone utility, being the estimated amount of the investment.

Free Service Prohibited—This section prohibits utilities from furnishing service free or at reduced rates to stockholders.

Return—Rates were fixed for a telephone utility estimated to yield a return of 7 per cent. of the value of its property.

Depreciation Fund—A telephone utility was ordered to set aside annually for depreciation, 5 per cent. of the value of its depreciable property, and rules were fixed for its depreciation fund.

Rate Increase.—A telephone utility furnishing service free to its stockholders and at $5.00 per year to other subscribers was authorized to charge a rate of $7.50 per year to all subscribers.

The commission then reviews a history of the company and sets forth its findings as follows:

On March 27, 1919 the Reddington Township Mutual Telephone Company of Jackson County, a corporation organized under the laws of the state of Indiana, filed its petition with the Public Service Commission of Indiana, averring:

"That it is a public utility engaged in the operation of a telephone plant and system in Reddington Township, Jackson County, Indiana; that its present rate for telephone service to its subscribers is $5.00 per telephone per year; that said rates are inadequate and insufficient properly to operate and maintain said telephone plant and system, and prays authority to increase said rates to a point justified by the investigation."

Due and timely notices were issued and served on petitioner and the newspapers of Seymour, Indiana, that the matters contained in the petition would be heard at the office of the Public Service Commission, Indianapolis, at 10 a. m. April 15, 1919.

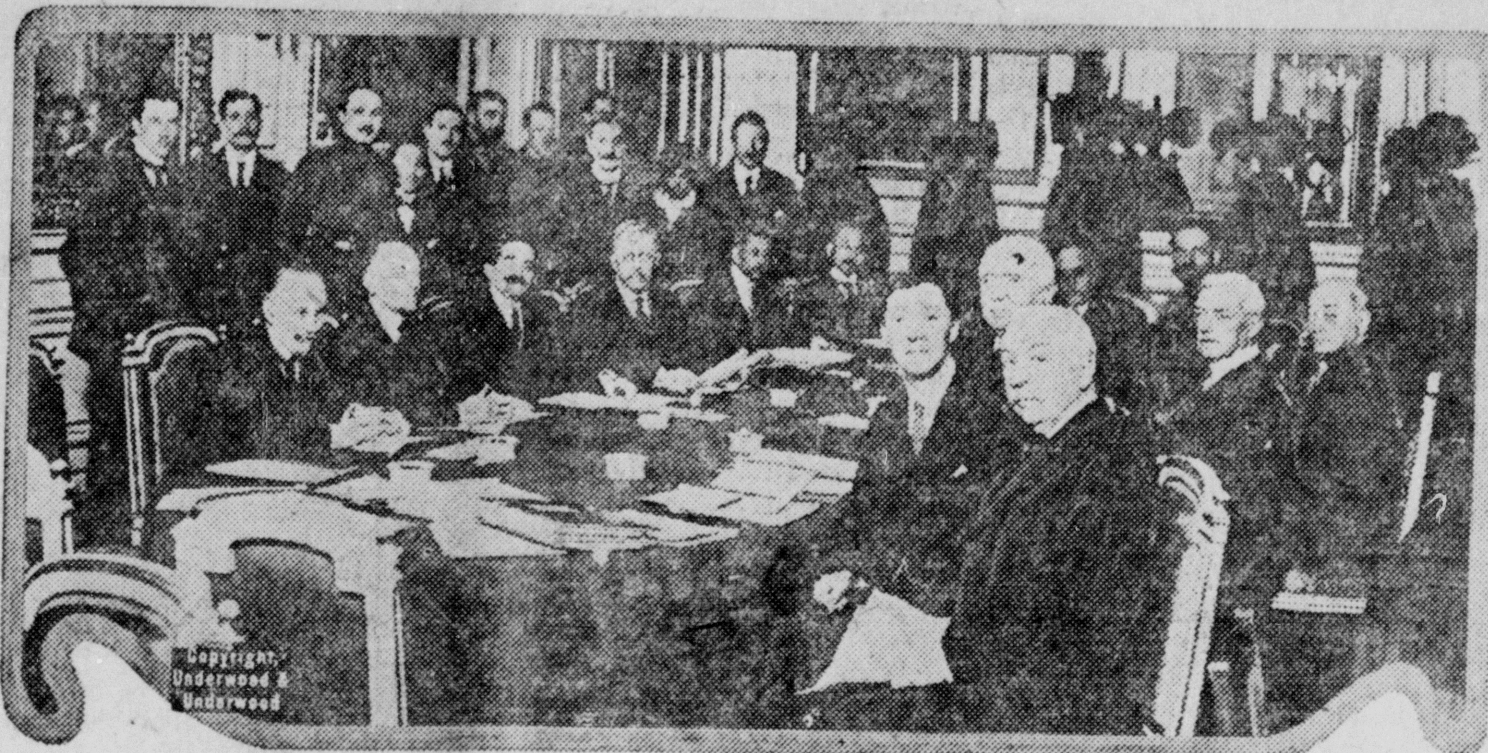

1. It appears that the Reddington Township Mutual Telephone Company was organized in 1909 and has an authorized issue of common capital stock of $3,000 with a par value of $25.00 per share, and that it has issued and sold and now has outstanding $825 of said stock, which amount represents the money expended in this telephone plant and system. However, since the organization of the company it has purchased an exchange building located in the village of Reddington, paying therefor, $635, making its total investment $1,460. No appraisal was made of the property, but for the purposes of this cause the Commission has accepted the above amount as being fairly representative of the reasonable value of petitioner's property.

2. Petitioner has connected with its exchange, eighty subscribers who pay petitioner $125 per quarter for service, and thirty stockholders who pay no rental whatever for service.

Section 114 of the Public Service Commission Law reads as follows: "If any public utility make or

NO CLEW UNCOVERED TO DEPUTY BANK ROBBERS

Door to Vault is Blown Open, But Burglars May Have Been Frightened Away.

No clew has been uncovered that would lead to the arrest of the parties who entered the Jefferson County Bank at Deputy Monday night. According to the last reports received here the bank officials did not know whether or not the robbers had secured any money or securities.

Entrance to the bank building was gained through the front door, a skeleton key apparently being used to open it. It is believed the time of the visit was about 12:30 o'clock as several persons say they heard an automobile near the bank at that time, which, it is believed, brought and took the robbers away.

A large sum of money and thousands of dollars worth of Liberty bonds were in the vault.

Three men and a woman, who came to Deputy last Saturday in an automobile, are suspected by the authorities of having been connected with the case. One of the men entered the bank and asked the cashier to change a ten dollar bill. Employees of the bank said they noticed that the man acted in a suspicious manner. The party was again seen on the streets in Deputy Sunday, but efforts to find them were fruitless. George Monroe, sheriff of Jefferson county, has gone to Deputy to investigate the case.

United States Stands Firmly Against Recognition of Secret Agreements.

BIG FOUR IN CLOSED SESSION

Understood China May Get Kiaow Chau and Shantung Peninsula, Seized by Germany.

By United Press.

Paris, April 23—President Wilson issued a statement today in which he declared that the United States would not consent to the award of Fiume to Italy. The statement came as a result of Italy's threat to withdraw unless her claims were met. A member of the Italian peace delegation said that the President's statement had broken up the peace conference and declared that Premier Orlando would leave for Rome tonight or tomorrow.

Japanese and Chinese representatives presented their respective cases yesterday afternoon. No official information could be obtained on what transpired in the meeting but it was understood that the United States has made no recession from the stand that the pact constituting the basis of Japan's claims, in common with all other secret agreements was nullified by acceptance of the armistice terms.

Aside from the stand against recognition of secret treaties, it is known the majority of the peace

WIRES CLOSED TO CRITICISM OF POSTMASTER GENERAL

New York World Unable to Send Dispatch to Other Papers of Country.

By United Press.

New York, April 23—The New York World today charged the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies had refused to carry over their wires Government-controlled, a synopsis of a World article attacking Postmaster General Burleson.

The World today declared that it offered to transmit this dispatch to a number of other newspapers and endeavored to send these papers a brief synopsis describing the attack on Burleson. The World then goes on to say:

"The representatives of the telegraph companies in the World office submitted the Burleson schedule to their respective night managers, Coney of the Postal and Leipmann of the Western Union.

"These officials said last night they had passed on the matter and decided against sending it over the wires operated by their companies. The reason advanced by them—that the article described by the schedule 'appeared to be improper.'"

"By authority of congress and through executive designation by the president, the telegraph and cable system of the country are under the control of the Postmaster general."

BOARD OF REVIEW HAS WIDE POWERS

Authority to Change Valuations is Extended Under The New Indiana Tax Law.

INSTRUCTIONS ARE ISSUED

Members May Order Increase in Any Single Class of Property Without Changing Others.

When the Jackson county board of equalization convenes on Monday, June 2, for its annual session of sixty days, it will have before it instructions from the state tax board to change the assessed valuation of any given class of property in any township if in its judgment such appraisements have not been properly made by the deputy assessors. The powers that are vested in the board of review by the new tax law are broader than heretofore, and while the board has had authority in the past to make minor changes it has seldom exercised it.

If a board of review desires to do so it may order percentage increase in the assessed valuation of automobiles, without ordering such an increase for all other classes of property. Such changes may be ordered without preliminary separate notice to all individuals whose valuations will be affected by such changes, the state board of tax commissioners holds.

BURLESON'S RECORD.

As a bungler Albert S. Burleson, who draws a big salary for serving as postmaster-general, is in a class by himself and for the good of the nation the public sincerely trusts that no one will try to compete with him for the same kind of a record. Burleson will go down in history as a record maker but it is not the kind of a record that he will enjoy reviewing later in life. The most important part of his career to the public will be the date when he retires or is retired from his duties in connection with the government.

The United States has always taken pride in the postal system. The department has been maintained at a high standard. Speed and efficiency were the aims of the former postmasters-general. The postoffice department is a vital part of the commercial machine of the nation. Its standard must be maintained. The failure of the postoffice department is known to every one who uses the United States mails. Letters which ought to be delivered in a few hours reach their destination long after they are due. Burleson in his annual report comments with pride upon what he has done for the postoffice department. Properly speaking he should refer to what he has done to the postoffice department.

Then Mr. Burleson thought that he could take over the telegraph and telephone systems of the nations, turn the profits, which were made by private concerns into a federal fund and within a few years the government would own the communication systems. Mr. Burleson got control of the wires, but instead of building up a purchasing fund, as he said he could do, he is borrowing money to keep the systems in some kind of order. The employees of the communication companies are discontented with the management. The public is disgusted with the service and amazed at the increases in rates which have been ordered. Mr. Burleson alone is satisfied with his work. Fortunately the communication lines are to be returned to the original owners immediately upon the formal declaration of peace. The public has some relief in sight. But he has two years to serve as postmaster-general. To what extent he will permit the mail system to further deteriorate is a conjecture. The biggest service that Mr. Burleson could render to his nation and to President Wilson is to step out of public life. He may desire to manage his personal business affairs in this unsatisfactory way, but there is no reason why the entire nation should be made to suffer. This is the period of reconstruction. The departments of the government under Burleson cannot be improved until a reconstructionist is placed in charge of them.

Mr. Burleson is entitled to his record in public life. Nobody will envy him.

ITALY'S ATTITUDE.

The threatened withdrawal of Italy from the peace conference is not viewed with great alarm. Italy wants and is entitled to all the indemnity that she can secure from Germany, but her attitude that all of her demands must be met in full or she will attempt to block the peace settlement is not in keeping with the splendid spirit of unity and co-operation that has been manifested in the past.

Italy presents certain claims to the Adriatic and bases them upon the "pact of London," a secret treaty that was negotiated before the United States entered the war. When America threw her forces on the side of the allies it was made quite clear and plain that all secret treaties would become null and void and that the settlement would be made on the broader principles of fairness and democracy. Italy was apprised of the understanding with which America entered the war. She did not protest then and has no reason to protest because the pact of London cannot now be carried out.

Italy's attitude can only hurt the objector. The peace that is to be concluded will be based upon fairness and justice. Orlando may withdraw from the "big four" conferences and he may threaten to refuse his signature, but Italy will remain with the allies and will be a party to the final peace terms. She has no other alternative. She must be guided by the rules of fair play. This is the principle that will govern in the final analysis.

Now that we have made our Victory loan pledges we'll have to get down to work so the bonds can be paid for when delivered.

Rev. J. H. More and R. J. Perkins went to New Albany this morning to attend a meeting of the New Albany Presbytery. They were delegates from the local Presbyterian church.

greatest war to establish international peace. This will be by far the greatest celebration ever held in the history of the state.

The county commissioners are anxious to comply with the state council of defense's request and will appropriate enough money to pay the fare of every discharged soldier to the state capital upon the date of the celebration which will be early in May. It is pointed out that a special fund has been set aside for war activities and that the money to meet the expense of paying the soldier's car fare to Indianapolis will be taken out of that fund.

As yet there has been no expression from Jackson county's discharged soldiers as to whether or not they would care to go to Indianapolis in a body on "Welcome Home" day and participate in the celebration but it is the opinion that many will be interested and that Jackson county will send a large delegation.

In extending his invitation to every discharged soldier, sailor and marine in the county Mr. Hunsucker issued the following statement for the press:

"We have made arrangement whereby the county commissioners have agreed to pay the railroad fare of all returned Jackson county soldiers sailors and marines who wish to attend the state wide "Welcome Home" celebration for all of the brave sons of Indiana who served their country during the world war. The return of the Hoosier boys in the Rainbow Division will be made the occasion for this celebration and the date will be some time between the first and tenth of May. I have, at the request of the state organization, named a county committee composed of men who have sons in the service, to represent us officially, and we hope to take a large number of our returned men, headed by a band, to participate in the big jubilee.

"In order to facilitate matters, I have named a man in each township to whom the boys who wish to make the trip from each section may report. All who can go with us are asked to enroll immediately so that we may have a complete list at an early date. The men representing the various townships are as follows:

Jackson township—George Huber.
Vernon township—Mitchell Lett.
Redding township—Robert Craig.
Brownstown township—Charles Robertson.

Hamilton township—J. B. Thompson.

Salt Creek township—Theodore Davis.

Grassy Fork township—Charles Hawn.

Carr township—Elmer E. Rudder.

Washington township—Frank Linke.

Owen township—Horace Payne.

"It is my earnest desire that the boys in each township who are entitled to take this trip, report to their respective representatives that reservations may be made."

John E. Hunsucker,
County Council of Defense."

AN OVERBURDENED MOTHER

If the steps a mother takes and the work she does could only be measured by figures, what an array they would make. Through girlhood, wifehood and motherhood woman toils on, often suffering from backache pain in side, headache, nervousness and sleeplessness, symptoms of more serious ailments peculiar to her sex. Thousands of such women, however, have found relief from suffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as is evidenced by the letters of recommendation continually being published in this paper.

Miss Ruddick was an honor guest at a six o'clock dinner and on her return home found the guests assembled there. The affair was a complete surprise to her. The evening was pleasantly spent with music and games after which refreshments of cream and cake were served. She received a number of useful gifts.

Those present included Misses Esther Plump, Nellie Johnson, Marie Keller, Mayme Mann, Elizabeth and Martha Doan, Gracia Hanenschild, Leona Schneck, Beatrice Schneck, Marie Pfaffenberger Ruth Pfaffenberger, Martha Beckman, Lydia Steinwedel, Mary Hackman, Edith Thomas, Edna Meyers, Eva Thomas, Ida Kasting, Lizzie Rebber, Evelyn Childs, Blanche Downs, Nancy Hintzen, Maude and Inez Ruddick.

TUESDAY CLUB.

The Tuesday Club met yesterday with Mrs. T. A. Mott. Mrs. Earl Cox talked on the "Cartoons of the War." Cartoons by leading American cartoonists were thrown on the screen to illustrate Mrs. Cox's talk. Mrs. W. H. Shields gave a highly entertaining discussion of the "Humor of the War." She made the point, proving it by numerous anecdotes, that the sense of humor of the doughboy was a factor contributing largely to his success in winning the war since it helped him to maintain his balance through difficult and harrowing situations.

ENTERTAINED.

Oliver Sweany of Reddington, was host to a company of friends Sunday afternoon. The guests enjoyed the musical program that was given and spent a delightful afternoon. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sweany and daughter, Pearl, Mrs. Lou Kerschner, Mrs. Lou Sweany and daughter, Eva, and James Sweany.

THEATRE PARTY.

The members of the A. A. D. Club were entertained Tuesday evening with a theatre party at the Majestic Theatre where they saw "The House of Glass." Later in the evening refreshments were served to them at Federmann's. The members of the party were: Misses Lula Holtman, Laura and Bertha Schulte, Martha and Helen Hoefkamp, Selma Baumgart and Olga Mueller.

ATTEND DANCE.

Misses Louise and Margaret Crump, and Messrs. Henry Harris, Jr., Albert Sohn and Alfred May motored to Seymour last night and attended a dance given by the Bachelor's Club at the Eagles' Hall. They were guests of Earl Harrington, of Seymour.—Columbus Republican.

Mr. and Mrs. John Burton entertained a number of out-of-town guests at a six o'clock dinner party Sunday at their home on Washington street. The house was attractively decorated with spring flowers and covers were laid for nine guests, most of whom were from Martinsville and Seymour.—Columbus Herald.

give any undue or unreasonable preference or advantage to any particular person, firm or corporation, or shall subject any particular person, firm or corporation to any undue or unreasonable prejudice or disadvantage in any respect whatsoever, such public utility shall be deemed guilty of unjust discrimination which is hereby prohibited and declared unlawful.

Under this section of the law it is unlawful for any public utility to discriminate in its rates, tolls and charges. The stockholders of this company should pay the same rate for service as other subscribers.

It appears that petitioner's total operating revenues for the year 1918 were $400 and that its total operating and maintenance expenses, including taxes, were $613, leaving a deficit of $213.

3-4. This utility should be permitted to earn a fair return upon the reasonable value of its property over and above operating an maintenance expense, including taxes and reasonable depreciation. Such return should then be distributed as dividends to the stockholders in proportion to the amount of stock held in such corporation. If petitioner would charge all its subscribers, including stockholders, $7.50 per annum, it would have an operating revenue of $775 per year, which would be sufficient to pay seven per cent upon the fair value of petitioner's property as hereinabove shown, and five per cent depreciation upon its depreciable property, leaving a slight excess of $18 to $20 for contingencies, etc.

5. The Public Service Commission of Indiana, having heard the evidence in the above entitled cause and being fully advised in the premises, finds that the rates, tolls and charges of the Reddington Township Mutual Telephone Company are inadequate and insufficient properly to operate and maintain said property and pay a fair return on the reasonable value thereof and take care of reasonable depreciation.

It is therefore ordered by the Public Service Commission of Indiana, that the existing rates of petitioner be and they are set aside and the following rates substituted therefore:

For all subscribers, per annum, $7.50.

It is further ordered, that the rates herein prescribed shall become effective May 1, 1919, and shall remain in effect until the further order of the Commission, and that petitioner shall file proper schedule giving effect to such rates on or before April 29, 1919.

It is further ordered, that petitioner shall set aside annually for depreciation, 5 per cent of the value of its depreciable property.

It is further ordered, that petitioner shall pay into a depreciation fund the moneys provided for depreciation, which fund shall be held separate and handled with proper accounting; that there shall be paid out of this fund all costs of meeting depreciation. Moneys accumulating in said fund should be invested, and if invested, such investment shall be made in government or other high grade listed securities which shall return to said fund not less than 4 per cent, interest per annum; or petitioner may borrow from this fund, for a period of not to exceed one year, money to cover not more than 75 per cent. of the cost of new construction, extensions or additions to the property—items properly chargeable to capital account—but, in such event, petitioner shall pledge to said fund its own note or bonds bearing interest at the rate of not less than 4 per cent per annum. Such moneys so borrowed by petitioner shall be repaid in full within one year. In handling such fund petitioner will be held strictly responsible for its safe investment, proper administration and accounting. Said accounting shall be double entry with the asset account designated "depreciation fund;" the liability account shall be designated as "depreciation reserve."

It is further ordered, that petitioner shall pay to the Treasurer of State, through the Secretary of this Commission, the sum of $21.55, for expenses incurred in the investigation of this cause.

is a blessing—a comfort, and a convenience to all the family.

With a "Humphrey" in the home you have no fire to build or maintain—no coal or wood to handle—no ashes—no dust—not even the need to strike a match.

To get hot water with a "Humphrey" you need but turn on any hot water faucet and instantly a generous stream of clean, hot water pours forth.

Enough for the bath or just enough for the toilet and shaving. Enough for cleaning or scrubbing, enough for the laundry or for the kitchen. And all at the rate of only 1 Cent for 10 gallons.

This is the kind of hot water service you want in your home. INVESTIGATE.

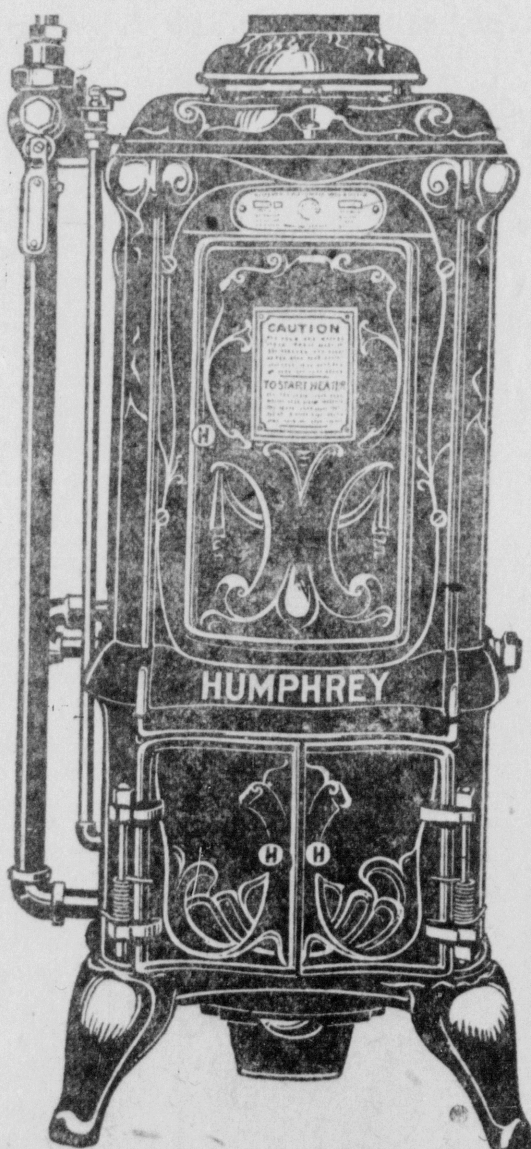

A Size For Every Need For Every Home

There's a size to suit your needs—from 2 to 8 gallons per minute capacity—to supply every hot water faucet.

The "Humphrey" is installed in the basement—out of the way. It is simply connected to the gas and water pipes. The tiny gas pilot light is lit—then all is ready—the heater requiring no more care or attention.

St. Louis, Mo., April 23.—The second day of the Victory Liberty Campaign found the workers around headquarters doubly enthusiastic over the prospect of completing all quotas in seven states and parts of states in the Eighth District in record time.

Reports from all parts of the district were uniformly encouraging and in most cases enthusiastic. The slogan "Finish the Job," reached the people and patriotism, supplemented by the knowledge of the splendid investment offered is bringing returns rapidly.

With no report from St. Louis, St. County and Tennessee, the official figures show that 5.4 per cent of the $195,000,000 quota for the Eighth Federal Reserve District has already been subscribed. It is known unofficially that many millions of dollars more notes have been sold, but they have not been officially reported.

E. E. Crabtree, Illinois State Chairman who is on the job, stated that he had no fear of any part of his district failing to make the allotment. He received a telegram from Percy, Ill., signed by W. C. Davis, Junior Chairman, saying: "Went over the top this afternoon at 4 o'clock with oversubscriptions by individuals to Victory Loan." Another telegram from Greenfield, Green County, said: "The two banks of this city have taken subscriptions from individuals over $30,000 a day without any solicitations. Don't tell me that we won't put it over. I am sure it will go better than any previous loan." This was signed by Ralph Metcalf, County Chairman.

8 Arkansas Counties Over.
Arkansas officially reports eight counties over the top at the close of the first day's work. These counties are the north half of Arkansas county, $146,900; Cross, $156,850; Greene, $300,650; north half of Mississippi county, $187,050; Monroe, $174,600; Phillips, $684,300; Poinsett, $180,950; St. Francois, $223,500.

Vice Chairman Pettie says that he believes District No. 13, comprising Phillips, St. Francois, Monroe and Lee counties, is the first district in the state, and he believes the first district in the Eighth Federal Reserve District to achieve its quota. While Pulaski County, of which Little Rock is the principal city, has made no official reports, unofficial returns addressed to headquarters indicate that over two millions of the $4,025,600 has already been sold.

"We are riding easy now," said Vice Chairman Pettie. "Arkansas will try to duplicate its feat of the Fourth Loan—that is, to make the largest over-subscription in proportion to the quota of any state in the district. Our only danger now is over-confidence, and we are going to bend every energy to make the over-subscription as big as possible."

Indiana is in second place in the race that has just begun, with a percentage of 15. State chairman Sonntag wired from his home in Evansville that he would be on the job Wednesday. Two Indiana counties—Jefferson and Spencer—have already gone over the top. Vanderburgh, with a quota of a little over four million and a half, reports nearly a million and a half sales. No fears are entertained for Indiana.

Mississippi Surprising.
Mississippi is the state that is surprising. In former loans this most southern state of the Eighth Federal Reserve District has been slow, but today she is in the lead, with returns from 10 of her 40 counties, aggregating $2,630,700. Three of the counties already are over the top. They are Coahoma, $1,368,950; Humphreys, $75,450; and West Tallahatchie, $195,550. State Chairman Kretschmer is greatly encouraged, and is confident that Mississippi is going to make a strong bid for first honors in the Victory Loan.

St. Louis and St. Louis county, as in previous loans, are slow in making reports. Chairman Collins Thompson of St. Louis county and J. C. Van Riper, chairman for the St. Louis metropolitan district, said this morning that while no figures were ready to give out, the situation was pleasing to the extreme.

Missouri now has five counties "over the top," and J. C. Hughes, state chairman, was in exuberant spirits over the prospect. While his territory is large and his quota a big one, he expects Missouri to come across quickly. Two counties reported as joining the honor column were Crawford, with an allotment of $156,150, and Oregon county, $78,100.

A telegram from Chairman Chappell of Barry county said that in Exeter township the quota of $16,696 was over-subscribed in five minutes, the township subscription totaling $22,800. St. Charles county citizens purchased $200,000 worth of Victory Liberty Loan Notes on the first day of the campaign. The county's quota is $814,150, and the workers expect the entire subscription to be completed this week. Wentzville, in St. Charles county, went over the top on the opening day for its allotment of $22,910.

Though the Kentucky state chairman has not yet arrived and reports from the Louisville metropolitan district are lacking, enthusiasm in the "Blue Grass" section is over the fact that four counties have reached their quota. These counties are Crittenden, $147,800; Marshall, $126,600; Meade, $46,750; and Ohio county, $164,200. Information reaching War Loan headquarters indicates that Kentucky will be found among the states making a brilliant showing, and will cross the line in good time.

R. L. Jordan, state chairman of Tennessee, arrived at headquarters full of "pep" and confidence and said that Tennessee is in better shape at this time than at the corresponding period in any of the previous loans. The last of the Tennessee counties has now been organized. This county, Carroll, has selected Thomas B. Green as chairman. He is a soldier returned from overseas, and is expected to inject considerable enthusiasm in the campaign. Memphis, which has about 66 per cent of the Tennessee quota in this district, is making such rapid strides that the leaders believe they will complete their subscription this week. Some of the outlying counties in Tennessee may not make a final report until the campaign ends, but Chairman Jordan is confident that all will go over the top.

Investigating Mound Area.

Dr. Clark Wissler, of the American Museum of Natural History, spent part of last summer making a reconnaissance of southeastern Indiana for the purpose of determining how far west the Ohio mound area extends. His data will supplement the full and accurate map of mounds and earthworks in Ohio prepared by Dr. W. T. Mills, state archaeologist. Several new sites were located for further exploration by the museum.

ENGLAND'S PEACE EXPENDITURE

Great Britain in the seven weeks after the armistice had a total expenditure of over 370 million pounds sterling, whereas the expenditures for the seven weeks before the armistice, at a time when hostilities were at their height, was just over 350 million. This indicates that other great nations, as well as the United States, are finding that they will require more funds to get through the year following the great war than they did to carry on the war for a year. This also explains the necessity for the continued sale of government bonds and War Savings Stamps.

See How Far You Can Go For Your Own Salvation

Uncle Sam isn't going to be able to pay his outstanding obligations with the money you lent him in the former Liberty Loans.

He isn't going to be able to finish this war job with the assistance you gave him in waging the actual fighting of the war.

What you have already done isn't going to help him now.

For all that money was spent long time ago. Part of the Victory Liberty Loan has been anticipated, spent already.

And every penny this loan produces will be needed, whether it be five or ten billion dollars. For he wants to make a clean job of it. And must.

Most of us have responded to his calls just as liberally as we felt we could afford. Yet few of us couldn't have done more in a pinch.

That pinch is here right now.

It's up to us, all of us, to do all we can; to go the limit.

Today it is no longer only a national task, a government obligation. It is a responsibility upon every one of us individually.

For if Uncle Sam falls at the finish it brands the American people as ungrateful quitters.

Which means you and me and every other American citizen.

It excuses none.

Forget what you have done. It was only your duty at most. And the money is safe; will come back to you. That isn't what counts now.

You didn't bankrupt yourself for your government. You are not asked to do so. You can do as much as you have done and still not go broke.

It's the sacrifices you make now that are worth more to America, to the common good, the national welfare.

So get busy with your exchequer. See just how far you can go. And then some.

We can put this Victory Liberty Loan over easily.

But not by talking about what we've already done.

CHAPTER VII.

Spun-Gold Hair, Blue Eyes and Various Encounters.

She was quite unaware of his presence, and yet he was directly in her path, though some distance away. Her head was bent; her mien was thoughtful, her stride slow and aimless.

She was slender, graceful and evidently quite tall, although she seemed a pigmy among the towering giants that attended her stroll. Her hands were thrust deep into the pocket of a white duck skirt. A glance revealed white shoes and trim ankles in blue. She wore no hat. Her hair was like spun gold, thick, wavy and shimmering in the subdued light.

Suddenly she stopped and looked up. He had a full view of her face as she gazed about as if startled by some unexpected, even alarming sound. For a second or two he held his breath, stunned by the amazing loveliness that was revealed to him. Then she discovered him standing there.

In a flash he realized that he was face to face with the stranger of the day before. He took two or three impulsive steps forward, his hand going to his hat—and then halted. Evidently his senses had deceived him. There was no smile in her eyes—and yet he could have sworn that it was there an instant before. Instead there was a level stare.

"I am sorry if I startled—" he began.

The figure of a man appeared as if discharged bodily from some magic tree-trunk, and stood directly in his path—a tall, rugged man in overalls was he, who held a spade in his hand and eyed him intently. Without another glance in his direction the first and more pleasing vision turned on her heel and continued her stroll, sauntering off to the right, her fair head once more bent in study, her back eloquently indifferent to the gaze that followed her.

"Who do you want to see?" inquired the man with the spade.

Before Barnes could reply a hearty voice accosted him from behind. He whirled and saw O'Dowd approaching, not twenty yards away. The Irishman's face was aglow with pleasure.

"I knew I couldn't be mistaken in the shape of you," he cried, advancing with outstretched hand. "You've got the breadth of a dockhand in your shoulders and the trimness of a prize fighter in your waist."

They shook hands. "I fear I am trespassing," said Barnes. His glance went over his shoulder as he spoke. The man with the spade had been swallowed up by the earth! He could not have vanished more quickly in any other way. Off among the trees were intermittent flashes of blue and white.

"I am quite sure you are," said O'Dowd promptly but without a trace of unfriendliness in his manner. "Bedad, loving him as I do, I can't help saying that Curtis is a badly old crank. Mind ye, I'd say it to his face—I often do, for the matter of that. Of course," he went on seriously, "he is a sick man, poor devil. You see I've known him for a dozen years and more, and he likes me, though God knows why, unless it may be that I once did him son a good turn in London."

"Sufficient excuse for reparation, I should say," smiled Barnes.

"I introduced the lad to me only sister," said O'Dowd, "and she kept him happy for the next ten years. No doubt I also provided Mr. Curtis with three grandchildren he might never have had but for my graciousness." A look of distress came into his merry eyes. "By Jove, I'd like nothing better than to ask you in to have a dish of tea—it's bedtime, I'm sure—but I'd no more think of doing it than I'd consider cutting off my head. He doesn't like strangers. He—"

"My dear fellow, don't distress yourself," cried Barnes heartily. "There isn't the least reason in the world why—"

"You see, the poor old chap asks us up here once or twice a year—that is to say, De Soto and me—to keep his sister from filling the house up with men he can't endure. So long as we occupy the only available rooms, he argues, she can't stuff them full of objectionables. Twice a year she comes for a month, in the late fall and early spring."

"Why does he continue to live in this out-of-the-world spot? He is an old man, I take it, and ill."

"You wouldn't be wondering if you knew the man," said O'Dowd. "He is a scholar, a dreamer, a sufferer. He's not a very old man at that. Not more than sixty-five."

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women as well as men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for Calomel—now and then just to keep in the pink of condition. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

"He certainly has a fanciful streak in him, building a place like that," said Barnes, looking not at the house but into the thicket above. There was no sign of the blue and white and the spun gold that still defied exclusion from his mind's eye. He had not recovered from the thrill into which the vision of loveliness plunged him. He was still a trifle dazed and distraught.

"Right you are," agreed O'Dowd; "the queerest streak in the world. It's his notion of simplicity."

"Green Fancy. Is that the name he gave the place or does it spring from—"

"'Twas christened by me own sister, Mr. Barnes, the first time she was here, two years ago. I'll walk with you to the fence beyond if you've no objections," said O'Dowd genially, and linked his arm through that of Barnes.

The latter was at once subtly aware of the fact that he was being deliberately conducted from the grounds. Moreover, he was now convinced that O'Dowd had been close upon his heels from the instant he entered them. There was something uncanny in the feeling that possessed him. Such espionage as this signified something deep and imperative in the presence not only of O'Dowd but the jack-in-the-box gardener a few minutes earlier.

His mind was still full of the lovely stranger about whom O'Dowd had so manifestly lied over the telephone.

"I must ask you to apologize to the young lady on whom I blundered a few moments ago, Mr. O'Dowd. She must have been startled. Pray convey to her my solicitude and excuses."

"Consider it done, my dear sir," said the Irishman. "Our most charming and seductive guest," he went on. "Bedad, of the two of you, I'll stake me head you were startled the most. Coming suddenly upon such rare loveliness is almost equivalent to being struck by a bolt of lightning. More than one painter of portraits has said that she is the most beautiful woman in the world. Mayhap you have heard of her. She is Miss Cameron of New Orleans, a friend of Mrs. Van Dyke. We have quite an enchanting house party, Mr. Barnes, if you consider no more than the feminine side of it. By the way, have you heard when the coroner is to hold his inquests?"

"Nothing definite. He may wait a week," said Barnes.

"I suppose you'll stick around until it's over," ventured O'Dowd. Barnes thought he detected a slight harshness in his voice.

"I have quite made up my mind to stay until the mystery is entirely cleared up," he said. "The case is so interesting that I don't want to miss a shred of it."

"I don't blame ye," said O'Dowd heartily. "I'd like nothing better myself than to mix up in it. The next time you plan to pay us a visit, telephone in advance. I may be able to persuade my host that you're a decent, law-abiding, educated gentleman, and he'll consent to receive you at Green Fancy. Good day to ye," and he shook hands with the departing trespasser.

"Takin' a walk?" was the landlord's greeting as Barnes mounted the tavern steps at dusk.

"Going over the grounds of last night's affair," responded Barnes, pausing

As he entered the door he was acutely aware of an intense stare leveled at him from behind by the landlord of Hart's Tavern. Half way up the stairway he stopped short and with difficulty repressed the exclamation that rose to his lips.

He had recalled a significant incident of the night before. Almost immediately after the departure of Roon and Paul from the Tavern Putnam Jones had made his way to the telephone behind the desk and had called a number in a loud, brisk voice, but the subsequent conversation was carried on in subdued tones, attended by haste and occasional furtive glances in the direction of the taproom.

Upon reaching his room Barnes permitted the suppressed emotion to escape his lips in the shape of a soft whistle, which if it could have been translated into words would have said: "By Gad, why haven't I thought of it before? He sent out the warning that Roon and Paul were on the way! And I'd like to bet my last dollar that someone at Green Fancy had the other end of the wire."

Mr. Ruschroft was giving Hamlet's address to the players, in the taproom when Barnes came downstairs at nine o'clock.

A small, dark man who sat alone at a table in the corner caught Barnes' eye and smiled almost mournfully. He was undoubtedly a stranger; his action was meant to convey to Barnes the information that he too was from a distant and sophisticated community and that a bond of sympathy existed between them.

Putnam Jones spoke suddenly at Barnes' shoulder. He started involuntarily. The man was beginning to get on his nerves. He seemed to be dogging his footsteps with ceaseless persistency.

"That fellow over there in the corner," said Jones softly, "is a book agent from your town. He sold me a set of Dickens when he was here last time, about six weeks ago. A year's subscription to two magazines thrown in. By gosh, these book agents are slick ones."

"He's a shrewd-looking chap," commented Barnes.

"Says he won't be satisfied till he's made this section of the country the most cultured, refined spot in the United States," said Jones dolefully. "Excuse me. There goes the telephone. Maybe it's news from the sheriff."

With the spasmodic tinkling of the telephone bell the book agent arose and made his way to the little office. Barnes glanced over his shoulder a moment later and saw him studying the register. The poise of his sleek head, however, suggested a listening attitude. Putnam Jones, not four feet away, was speaking into the telephone receiver. As the receiver was restored to its hook Barnes turned again. Jones and the book agent were examining the register, their heads almost meeting from opposite sides of the desk.

The latter straightened up, stretched his arms, yawned, and announced in a loud tone that he guessed he'd stop out and get a bit of fresh air before turning in.

"Any news?" inquired Barnes, approaching the desk after the door had closed behind the book agent.

"It wasn't the sheriff," replied Jones shortly, and immediately resumed his interrupted discourse on books and book agents. Ten minutes elapsed before the landlord's garrulity was checked by the sound of an automobile coming to a stop in front of the house. Barnes turned expectantly toward the door. Almost immediately the car started again, with a loud shifting of gears, and a moment later the door opened to admit, not a fresh arrival but the little book agent.

"Party trying to make Hornville tonight," he announced casually. "Well, good night. See you in the morning."

Barnes was not in a position to doubt the fellow's word, for the car unmistakably had gone on toward Hornville. He waited a few minutes after the man disappeared up the narrow stairway, and then proceeded to test his powers of divination. He was as sure as he could be sure of anything that had not actually come to pass that in a short time the automobile would again pass the tavern, but this time from the direction of Hornville.

Lighting a cigarette he strolled outside. He had barely time to take a position at the darkened end of the porch before the sounds of an approaching machine came to his ears. A second or two later the lights swung around the bend in the road a quarter of a mile above Hart's Tavern, and down came the car at a high rate of speed. It dashed past the tavern

Don't Let Catarrh Drag You into Consumption

Avoid Its Dangerous Stage.

There is a more serious stage of Catarrh than the annoyance caused by the stopped-up air passages, and the hawking and spitting and other distasteful features.

The real danger comes from the tendency of the disease to continue its course downward until the lungs become affected, and then dreaded consumption is on your path. Your own experience has taught you that the disease cannot be cured by sprays, inhalers, atomizers, jellies and other local applications.

S. S. S. has proven a most satisfactory remedy for Catarrh because it goes direct to its source, and removes the germs of the disease from the blood.
